Talk Title: Decoding Star Wars

2017 saw the 40th anniversary of Star Wars first being released in America. It captured the imagination of audiences at a time when sci-fi had been in the doldrums. Now it is seen as one of the most important films in the history of motion pictures. But what is it that so resonates with us about it and the other films in the saga?

Are there deeper truths to the stories being told?

Can the characters and events portrayed in these films tell us something about who we are and where we came from?

What connects it to the UFO phenomenon and current events now being played out on planet Earth?

Are the events of a long time ago in a galaxy far, far away actually much closer to home?
