SPEAKER BIO

DAVID GRIFFIN

David established the first national website under the Exopolitics theme and soon expanding Euro network from 2005. In the next decade he assisted in the promotion of this topic and the wider UFO/contact discussion. This included trips to London to personally pester sitting MPs to encourage McKinnon's case for non-extradition.

Along with writing for and editing the www.Exopoliticsjournal.com he presented on areas such as "Alien Language", the role of authentic contact experiences and discussion of what "above government" layers know of this phenomenon. Around 2011 he began what was to become a long term effort to explore additional events brought to light by a Kiwi contactee. This subject involved the UK Falklands conflict and a strange, advanced technology (named the "black goo during an early Bases UK interview) taken back to the English company Marconi. This involved visits to London's FOIA library at Kew Gardens and contributes to a book due for release soon by Nexus Magazine.
